Silas Green Show Is Gone

The Silas Green Pullman and fleet of trucks and autos has left Keystone and continued on its itinerary.

The show this year was even better than we have come to expect from Mr. Collier's big organization. The people who compose the personnel of the show are to a man the very best of the talent of the land in varied ways, and each is a skilled specialist in some phase of the amusement field ranging from comedy up to the most beautiful high-class dancing ever seen in these hills.

The folks will be on hand this time next year, for Silas gets up a new program every season and each one better than the preceding ones.

Farley Heads Coca-Cola

The latest New Dealer to see the handwriting on the wall is Jim Farley. For years Mr. Farley was near the head man of the New Deal, but at the Chicago Democratic convention, now famous for its phoney Roosevelt "draft," Farley was muzzled and told to be quiet. Big Jim knows politics and he knows the country will not fall for such a steal as was pulled off at expense of the delegates and deserted the ship for a soft place with a big corporation, after fighting them tooth and nail for many moons. This was a surprise, for we had expected him to buy the New York Yankees and thus become a base ball tycoon, as did half the insiders it now appears.

It is not expected that Farley will be the only New Dealer to start looking around for a nice cushy job with some big business enterprise ere long.

Department of Wild Guesses

What are odds the European situation will putter along and flare up late in September or early October? Why do we ask? Oh, well, we have an hot idea along that line which will bear watching if Hitler does not soon start his invasion of England—an idea that embraces the whole future of the Western Hemisphere—Got it?

"Characteristics of Mineable Coals of West Virginia"

The State Geologist has just announced the release of another report, Vol. VIII on the state's most important mineral resource—coal—entitled "Characteristics of Mineable Coals of West Virginia." The report is in the form of a handsome volume (272 p. $1.53) accompanied by a set of graphs and maps.

The volume not only tells the location and name of various coals, their probable extent and tonnage but also gives an analysis of each variety and several other points of information of each.

This volume should be owned by everyone with more than ordinary interest in coal for it tells about all one might want to know that could properly be expected under the heading.

The professional coal man to whom the awe-inspiring and mysterious graphs mean something as well as technical processes and nomenclature, should certainly enjoy this volume.

A huge map of the state with commercial mines located on it is a beautiful job.

This report is required reading for those who would know all there is to know of King Coal in West Virginia, and Paul Price and his assistants have really gone to town on this one. A. J. W. Headlee, Chemist and John P. Nolting, Junior, Assistant Geologist are the authors. The report can be purchased from the State Geologist, Morgantown, W. Va.

Political Picture Clearing

The convention this week in Charleston will mark the beginning of the fall campaign—one mighty march to victory for the Republicans. After nearly eight years of New Dealism that has sickened the country with its extravagance and diddle-daddling, playing politics with the misery of the destitute and the New Deal caesar attempting to tell the whole world how to run its business while our own is a terrific mess real Democrats are flocking to the Republican banner not so much because they have deserted the Democratic party as because they cannot find it. Realization that the Democratic party has gone the way of the watermelon—that the New Deal hippopotamus ate is quite general.

Outlook for Peace Is Good

As fall nears world peace outlook improves. Even in our day and age successful waging of large scale military operations is largely dependent upon the weather. This is especially true of modern armies of machinery and non-professional soldiers—that is men who have not been long accustomed to the rough life of the military camp.

The sorest danger spot to a peaceful world today is of course

Hitler's projected invasion of England. Only a few weeks of good weather remains before winter sets in and renders any large scale operations extremely questionable as to sense. We may assume the invasion, if it is not begun soon, to be put off indefinitely. This is somewhat of a mystery, for military men agree that chances of a Hitler success are good and that every day they are that much less good. Naturally the English are not sitting back waiting but are getting ready. It is suspected Hitler's victory over France so weakened his armies that he does not dare to risk a fight immediately, especially with men who are perfectly willing to fight to the last man as are the English. The German is loathe to play only sure things with most of the chances of winning on his side before the fight begins.

In the Far East the pot is boiling merrily. Japan's imperialistic dreams are at their height. The yellow men have adopted superior airs and are even complaining because we are unwilling to send out of the states to them military supplies we need at home. In her war with China she is no nearer to victory than two years ago, it is doubtful China can be conquered at all, and more and more it appears the Japs are looking for an opening to jump on some other nation that is so occupied with another war that a Jap win is guaranteed. This to get out of the China mess and regain national face—as if the world ever thought they had one! The Japs are German-type soldiers.

As prophesied long ago, the fascists have yet to demonstrate ability to fight on equal terms with free men. Since they feared war England has kept Mussolini's fleet prisoner in "our sea," chasing the ships in ports under their land-guns. A show-down is to be expected in a land in a few days. The Italians have massed several hundred thousand men in Africa and there are several divisions of English colonials nearby just spoiling for a fight.

The European situation has taken a turn that may be deceptive. Hitler has reached the conclusion that if he goes slow that America and the Americans will not arm and be ready for any comers and when we have built ourselves into a false sense of security attack, probably with aid of the Axis' Japanese fleet. However, things here are not expected to be stopped until we have a two-ocean fleet and an organized and heavily armed land force that will enable us to declare ourselves undisputably mightier than any other nation or combination of nations that be conceived against us.

How a New Deal Agency Discriminates Against Colored

C. W. Rice, Houston, Texas, Editor-Publisher, Negro Labor News: "The re-election of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term would not only mean the continuance of every New Deal policy which has made depression and unemployment chronic facts in this country but the destruction of Constitutional Government in the United States.

"His re-election will mean that the masses of the colored people of the United States will remain 'reliefers,' or 'dolees.' It will mean that Negro workers will continue to be thrown out of employment in private industry and put on Government projects through the administration of the National Labor Relations Act which now certifies the Labor Unions as sole bargaining agencies—the same Labor Unions that bar colored workers from membership on account of race and color.

Mr. Roosevelt's Acceptance Speech emphasized that 'there would be no appeasement with the European dictators.' He has expressed from time to time shock and displeasure over the treatment of the Jews in Europe but he has not yet voiced a single criticism of the flagrant discriminations against Negroes in Governmental set-ups nor has he expressed his shock and displeasure because of lynchings in his own domain."

Third Term Dictatorship
HARRY C. SMITH, Cleveland Ohio, Editor of the Gazette: "A third term for a President of this country, particularly at this time, is the first step to DICTATORSHIP. The world has been thoroughly informed, within the year as to what this means by Europe's heartrending war experience. This country does not need nor wants a third term Dictator-President.

"Decidedly the most popular President this country has had since the days of the great Lincoln and the Civil War, was Ulysses S. Grant. The votes of more than three hundred delegates were cast for their candidate, President Grant, in the Republican National convention until the end of the voting. A nomination for a third term was refused him because of the very wide and general feeling upon the part of the citizens of this country against it. And they had not the opportunity of earning what a dictatorship means that the citizens of this country have had within the year.

"So soon after the recent Democratic National Convention at Chicago the defection of leading members of that party because of the President's nomination for a third term indicates, with the notorious failure of the New Deal, the triumphant election in November this year, of Wendell Willkie and U.S. Senator Charles McNary Republican Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates

Miss Lorena Kemp Has Honor of Being First Woman to Address W. Va. State Graduate

For the first time in the history of graduation exercises at West Virginia State college, Institute, the commencement address was delivered by a woman. This unique honor fell to Miss Lorena E. Kemp, assistant Professor of English in the college and coach of the inter-collegiate debating teams.

A large audience of friends and relatives of the graduates as well as other visitors and staff members were waiting when the academic procession marched in at eleven o'clock, on the morning of August 9. Professor T. D. Phillips played an organ prelude "In Summer" by Stebbins, and as processional "War March of the Priests," by Mendelssohn.

President John W. Davis then offered prayer. Brief messages were given by Miss Mary L. Williams of Charleston, newly elected president of the American Teachers Association and by Mr. Andrew Calloway, Assistant Superintendent of Public Schools, Kanawha County.

President Davis then introduced the speaker. Miss Kemp spoke on the subject "The Responsibility of the College Graduate in a Vanishing Democracy."

"The youth of today," said Miss Kemp, "Must take stock not of political creeds, but of himself. In the tests of courage he must not compromise, save on his own terms nor swear allegiance without the dictates of his heart. The formation of a wise public opinion is open to the graduate as one of democracy's supreme needs to fortify its ideals."

Forace Hester sang Tosti's "Goodbye" and Perry Arter rendered Burleigh's "Go Down Moses."
